HOME TESTIMONY.

Prof. H. C. White
STATE CHEMIST.

UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA,
Chemical Laboratory,
Office of State Chemist,

ATLANTA, GA. June 26, 1884.

I have been familiar for a number of years with the general character of Prof. Horsford's phosphate preparations. Recent examinations made some of the Acid Phosphate* and Bread Preparation, and I can assure you what I have seen in the circulation accompanying the packages. The Acid Phosphate is a concentrated solution in water of Acid Phosphate of Lime. The "Bread Preparation" is a mixture of Lime, carbonate of soda and flour. When mixed with water, carbonic acid is liberated and a double phosphate of lime and soda is formed and remains in the bread when baked. In ordinary cream of tartar bakers powders the substance left in the bread after "raising" is Rochelle salt—a double salt of soda and lime. The phosphates are used mineral substance in animal nutrition and growth, the tartarate is an acid.

In my opinion the Phosphate Powder is, therefore, preferable to the others, so far as healthfulness is concerned.

GENERAL GRANT'S WORDS TO EX-SENATOR CHAFFEE.

The Wavy Watch by the Senator's Bedside—His Condition Growing Worse—Reporters Watching the Movement in the House of Pain—Death Likely to Come at Any Time.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The following bulletin was issued at 2 p.m.:

General Grant has, within the past half hour, become somewhat restless, changing his position alternately from his chair to his bed. He had complained of pain in his throat, which was relieved by the local application of cocaine. He has now again walked about his room, and for a short time up a short time in the library. His pulse remains the same, and the temperature normal. He has just taken his nourishment, and at his moment is inclined to go into his chair, having had his anodyne administered.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Last night was a comfortable one for General Grant. He slept quietly in his easy chair with his best resting on a stool from shortly before 11 o'clock until half-past 6 this morning. He was much refreshed by his sleep of eight hours which was unbroken, save for a few moments when he was wakened, having been wakened by the local anodyne of cocaine. His pulse during the night was comfortable. Doctors J. H. Douglas and J. George F. Shadwell, residing in the room in the bed of General Grant, found him to be in good condition.

AN ALARM AT NINE O'CLOCK.

Shortly after nine o'clock there were indications of a considerable commotion within the residence of General Grant. The light in the room of General Grant was bright, but unbroken, and the shades of many small dimples were out of the bedroom of the dying soldier. A messenger boy came hurriedly down to the stoop with a message for Dr. Douglas, who was summoned in hot haste. About half an hour later Dr. Shadwell, who had not been expected until 11 p.m., it looked as if the general had taken a turn for the worse.

Dr. Shadwell found the house about 9:45, and he said that the general was sleeping quietly, and he thought the outlook favorable.

When Senator Chaffee called on General Grant yesterday afternoon, the general, in referring to his condition said: "This is hard."

After a lapse of some minutes he said: "I'm going to call on Dr. Shadwell."

Chaffee then said to him, "You are feeling little better, but you are not bad. I don't know" an swered the general. "You know I'm going to die. The doctors know I'm going to die. I want to see General Grant again," said Dr. Newman's visit General Grant said that Dr. Newman had prayed for him and he allowed him to pray, not that he thought that charyan's prayer would be of any avail, but that he wanted to do his best to help him. Dr. Shadwell then administered with a hypodermic syringe. This two drops of cocaine were given to him. The general seemed so near. That was all the liquor stimulant then administered, and not a drop has been given since. The general has since expressed conviction that this application of brandy saved his life at this time.

The long major being a strong naturalist at first declared in a public speech in Phoenix park that when the prince of Wales came to Dublin, the flag would be lowered from the mansion house, his lordship's official residence. O'Connor had been sent to the city to represent the government to consider this threat as boisterous and unwaranted. Then he manfully declared that when the prince of Wales would be officially received at the residence of the long major he would hold aloft the ceremonial of the long major's residence.

THE CONSTITUTION,

Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, APRIL 5, 1865.

INDICATIONS for the South Atlantic states, taken at 1 a. m.: Slightly warmer, fair weather; northwesterly winds; becoming variable.

ADVERTISING RATES depend on a new line of a few lines in a cheap "personal column."

THE REV. SAM. JONES is stirring up Knox's in a very hitherto unknown. He is conducting the greatest religious revival on record in that city.

GENERAL LAWTON may yet be minister to Russia. It is stated that the action taken by the senate committee on his nomination was intentionally such as to allow his renomination if it shall be found that he is eligible.

FRANCE has been compelled to call for a new loan of one hundred million francs to meet the expenses of her war with China. She will make several more calls before the knights of Ding Dang are through with General Negrer.

The lord mayor of Dublin is making himself a fool about his flag in connection with the approaching visit of the prince of Wales. He has tried to pay the demagogue and please all factions, and his consequent embarrassment is very amusing.

GENERAL WOLSEY appears to be paying the way to retirement from the disastrous Khartoum campaign. His surgeon's report is calculated to arouse a pub in sympathy for the suffering army which will demand its withdrawal from the desert.

CAPTAIN EVAN P. HOWELL will not accept the appointment as consul to Manchester, and has forwarded the president his formal declination. While he feels gratified to the administration, the honor conferred upon him, and also highly complimented at the generous reception of the appointment, still circumstances are such that he thinks it best to decline it.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE SOUTH. The probability that President Cleveland will accept the invitation extended to him, to be present at the National commercial convention to be held in Atlanta the latter part of May, has inspired many pleasant suggestions.

There are good reasons why the president will visit Atlanta on that occasion. He has never been south. The southerners of the present generation have never seen a democratic president—indeed, we do not remember that a democratic president even came to this section before the war. The commercial convention will bring to Atlanta representative men from every part of the country, and if the president will only signify his intention of being present there will be such an outpouring of the people of the south as has never been seen to give him welcome. The visit could not fail to be productive of great good. President Cleveland would gratify our people by coming to see us by sending a few lost of appointments to office. We earnestly hope he can see his way clear to accepting the invitation that, extended by the committee, carries with it the heartiest sanction of every citizen of Georgia and the surrounding states.

OUR ASSORTMENT OF WARS. THE CONSTITUTION has on hand the largest assortment of war it has ever carried. There are just six of them, and we have to count them every night before going to press to see that they are all in.

Here are the—The Manhonian war, the Central American war, the Colombian war, the Soudan war, the French-Chinese war, the Russian-English war. A round half dozen, and a pretty mess they are making of it. All races and all colors are in the swim. The Anglo-Saxon, the Gaul and the Slav, all white. The yellow Chinese, the black African, the red Indian, the drab Moor, and mohogany-colored Afghan; the swarthy Central American and the unworked cowboy.

There is a general disposition to crowd old England, who fights for trade and territory. In the Soudan her conquest is battled by Arabs and negro. In Afghanistan her possessions are threatened by Russia, and in Manchuria by India, impeded by Indians, impeded by half-breeds. The Anglo-Saxon blood will triumph over all this mixture even if Russia takes hold in earnest. The French and Chinese are said to be fighting over a disputed territory, though it is really because they can't understand each other's language. In Central America Barrios, of Guatemala's, is trying to conquer the five republics that neighbor him, reminding us of the farmer who denied that he was greedy about land, and said, "I only want to buy all that is lying next to me." In the United States of Columbia the rebels are trying to break up the combination already made.

We do the best we can to keep our readers posted on the events of these various fields. It is a hard job. It requires a strong mind and the transfer from Khartoum to Batavia, and from Liberia to Ding Dang. There is hardly enough serious fighting done to fix the attention at one point, or to signalize any particular war above the lot. The skirmishing is of the most provoking sort, and does little else than fill the general atmosphere with the most bewildering names that ever defied autograph and rubby. It may become necessary for Captain Crouch to come to the front with his Oklahoma boom-boom, and throw them against Uncle Sam's traps just to show this forego badge padge and fighting really is and what war means the American way of play.

THE TOBACCO CROP. CALERA, Ala., April 4.—[Special]—Count Recalera and suite, of the Russian imperial army, passed up to night on the Louisville and Nashville. He is ordered to join his regiment at Warsaw, in anticipation of trouble with England.

A venerable and prominent business man from Birmingham, who has made his fortune out of Birmingham, and has a large company stock, your correspondent who he will build and order a hotel at Birmingham, and will build a hotel equal to the Arlington hotel. He says now in the winter of life and have but a few months to live. Before I leave the earth I'd like to have enriched the life of some who are friendly feelings I appreciate.

SHERMAN'S NEW MAYOR. SHERMAN, Ala., April 4.—[Special]—The democratic convention of the city met at Harmon's hall at 8 o'clock last night to nominate the mayor. The names of Messrs. H. S. D. Mallory, H. H. Stewart and R. J. Davidson, the present incumbents, were prominently before the people. Their names were the only ones put in nomination. On the first ballot Mallory had thirty votes and the other two were blank. The struggle was long and stubborn. Stewart's name was withdrawn, and Mallory was declared the nominee. He is the wildest, hottest, most impulsive man in the state, and his name is a household word.

The result is happy and will give general satisfaction.

THE TOBACCO CROP. DANVILLE, Va., April 4.—[Special]—The tobacco association shows that the sales of leaf tobacco for the last six months were 13,830,000 pounds, against 10,600,000 pounds for the same period of the preceding year. The association news the statement made in October last that the tobacco crop was heavier than of 1883, and says that the shortness of the sales for the last half of the year is due to the remarkable unseasonableness of the winter for handling and marketing the tobacco.

The plain and fancy brick were furnished by Messrs. F. Lockett &amp; Co., of Atlanta. The lumber and other materials for the building were furnished by Messrs. J. C. Peck and H. Crankshaw &amp; Co., of Atlanta. The hardware from Messrs. Clegg &amp; Sons, of Atlanta. The sewer pipe from Messrs. Meyer &amp; Sons &amp; Co., of Chicago, and from Messrs. J. C. Peck and H. Crankshaw &amp; Co., of Atlanta. The gas fixtures from P. K. Peck &amp; Co., of New York. The iron work from Messrs. Mitchell, Vance &amp; Co., of New York. The hardware from Messrs. J. C. Peck and H. Crankshaw &amp; Co., of Atlanta. The paper hangers from Eugene Morris, of Baltimore. The general work and sevence tiling by Edward J. Kirby. Painting and staining by John S. Stainton, of New York. Front bricklaying by Phillips.

The economy of the administration will be one of its strong points. I saw it laid on heavy and will be a good investment.

THE TOBACCO CROP. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 4.—[Special]—This morning at three o'clock two houses stores on the corner of 16th and 2nd were destroyed by fire. The loss on the building was $2,000. The stock was covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The burned stores will be replaced by a handsome brick buildi

THE ADMINISTRATION. GOSSIP AND COMMENT ABOUT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

How Matters Strike a Democratic Eye Witness President Cleveland and His Cabinet—Steering Clear of Personal Entanglements—Economy of the Administration.

Last Friday morning I entered the gates to the White House for the first time. Heretofore I had, felt that I had no inheritance within those gates. On Friday morning, however, the gates stood ajar, the sunshine lit the way, and I went in, feeling that at last the people had come together in peace and good will, and that no soldier meaning rolled with the current of the Potomac, flashing and dimpling in the distance.

It is as it should be. Make room for the squad.

ADDRESS BY DR. HAYGOOD.

"Hand, as Well as Head and Heart Training."

An Address, Delivered March 10, 1885, by Aticus G. Haygood, D. D., LL. D., at the Dedication of the "Elizabeth S. Rust Industrial Home," Atlanta, Georgia.

A writer of note, George W. Williams, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is himself of African descent, says: "Editors and writers throughout the world should spell the word Negro with a capital 'N.' The reason is that word is the name of a race of men, just as Indian is the name of a race of men. It is no compliment to those who write to call the Negroes the 'Negroes' when they are the Negroes."

There was something of prophecy in the remark attributed to that unique and typical American, whom you rever, and whom we are all coming to respect, Abraham Lincoln: "No man will ever again be elected president of the United States who speaks well of Negroes, two or three years from now."

Lincoln meant that what he had given, public opinion would soon come to recognize, the Negro's citizenship. And this prophecy is coming to pass.

PROGRESS WITHOUT PARALLEL.

The progress of the Negro race in the United States during the last twenty years might have been greater, had it not been for the last fifty is one of the marvels of history. If we take the longer period, it is a history of progress from abject savagery; if we take the shorter, it is a history of progress from slavery, whose end is an occasion of gratitude to all who understand the significance of citizenship in the great government of the world.

No people ever had such an experience of great and sudden transitions. As one has expressed it: "Slaves yesterday, freemen to-day, and voters to-morrow." And they have done better than most men, who thought they understood the other, except of course the Negro.

The experimental equipment it was, for there were no precedents—could not, without fatal issue to our institutions and to the Negro race itself, have been made in any other country. As I have been told by those who invited me here to-day, what I think is, that this experiment could not have been made in any other part of the union so easily as in the southern states.

The experiment equipment it was, for there were no precedents—could not, without fatal issue to our institutions and to the Negro race itself, have been made in any other country.

I believe in industrial training in Rust university, as I believe in it everywhere else.

I believe it so much that I have written to every effort to inaugurate a "school of tool-craft" in Emory college, with which I am connected as president, and I am still lending what I can to my honored successor, Rev. Dr. I. S. Hopkins, who is now engaged in the task of actually beginning the work of industrial education, along with other educational efforts.

True education will move along three great lines—books, morals, industry. To state it otherwise, there must be head training, heart training, and hand training; and neither is possible without the other. There is much of the discontent of the working world whose murmuring hint of suppressed earthquakes—the kind of education these unhappy people have received has bred insatiable thirst that it has created supply to meet it. Education is the cause of progress; education is the key to the lock of the鎖匙.

My own father brought me up to farm work. I have not forgotten him. How often I have thanked "Uncle Tom," who was my wise, and patient, and loving teacher.

ASHAMED OF HARD WORK.

It is a matter of surprise that a republic like ours, so many, otherwise intelligent people should do such a thing. Everybody knows that the average white girl prefers the attentions of the well dressed youth who sells ribbons for $25 a month to those of a carpenter, not so well dressed, who can easily earn $50. And the average white boy would prefer to be the rib of another—it is a very strong preference to be a question of clothes; it is, I suspect, at bottom a recoil from what is esteemed the humiliation of hand work.

It is to be regretted to develop a colony into a great state in a country where there are no births as to permanently elevate any race without quickening in its very blood the germs of self-supporting energy. Immigration alone never built up a state; missionaries alone never redeemed even one heathen tribe.

THE CROWN PRINCE.

It was the Christian religion in both races that sustained the country under the strain and pressure of the Civil War. The declaration of independence, alone, were inadequate to so great a trial. And it is the Christian religion that will finally solve this and every other hard problem that confronts our times; it is only the despair of unbelief that questions the possibility of solution.

The progress of the Negro race in the United States in education, using the word in its broadest sense, the country between 1865 and 1880, we will find the never-before so many literate people less, so much used to the fast. During these twenty years the Negro's eagerness to learn and his success in learning has finally settled in the minds of candid people, who take the trouble to study their facts, to facts, the long-quoted, as well as to his own desire to learn. And while some have made a bad use of education, so many have used it well as to convince reasonable people who have informed themselves that it is not only possible to teach the Negro, but very desirable to teach him what he can learn.

THE Negro in the United States—OUT TO MAKE PROGRESS.

It would have been an infinite disgrace to him had he failed. If my ignorant people, ever learned so fast, it is also true that no ignorant people ever had so much done for them. The Negro's education, the proposal as it deserves would take a very long time to be made to a great and difficult task, though to be sure, the most important, any valid force weaker than the strongest faith in God. I do not believe that so much would have been attempted by any other people as the Christian people of this country have for twenty years been trying to do. I do not believe any portion of Christian people are qualified for it. For it is known that nearly all that has been done, by voluntary effort, has been done by those—those who are the most ignorant, who were on the victorious side in the war between the states. That they were on the victorious side, explains not only in large measure why they have been with us, but why they were able to do it. That in their education and ability met together, was a probability, the Negro race and to the whole country. (How desperately poor the war left the south in every word.)

FULL FIVE MILLION DOLLARS OF INVESTMENT.

I have had much occasion to study the facts of this history of the education of the Negroes in the south since 1865. There is not time to day for detailed statements. Let it suffice now to say, together the gifts of northern and southern philanthropists, and the appropriations to public schools, the Negro from southern taxation, and we will find that full fifty million dollars have in twenty years been invested in the cause of Negro education. Of this sum nearly all of it has been paid out.

WHAT FIGURES ARE TRUE.

But the money measure is the least of all. The best things cannot be told in figures; faith, sentiment, love, devotion, cannot be compressed into statistical tables. Consider, for instance, the love of God, and as Christ spirit is ever God's hard work, this world, have for twenty years been putting their very lives in this work. And this they have done, out of love for Christ, and the souls for whom Christ died.

At them on the roll of the names of more than a thousand men and women, who, under discouragements never faced or surmounted, have been for these twenty years doing all that consecrated manhood could do to do to teach the Negroes the way the Lord has to be done and wages—the Lord's wages.

THE SOUP OF EDUCATION NEVER DIES.

This brings me to say the value of education depends on the education. Education in books is good, but it is very far from being enough. If there be nothing else, it is well to have a good book of the Bible. I am very glad that the primary givers of millions of dollars to the cause of Negro education, the late John F. Slater, of Norwich, Connecticut, has put it down in his letter to me, that he asked to take the

The carpenter, who is master of the square, the hammer, the saw, the plane, the auger, the chisel, the drawing-saw, the sizer and the implements for wood-work, is better fitted to do well than the man who is master of the plowing machine or other costly contrivances.

The same principle holds in industrial training for women. In some places laundry work is done by machinery with all the "modern improvements." Few are the women of the south who will ever have opportunity, out of school, to use such machinery. The woman who has the full powers of hot and cold water, the resources of the wash-tub, the rubbing board, the sad iron and the qualities of soap and starch, in better fitted to do laundry work that will be than she who knows how to run a machine." So in all the departments.

What we all need is to know thoroughly how to use the tools we have. Last week at my home a carpenter fashioned a missing baluster with a drawing knife, a wood file and a rasp, a tool that could not, when I had it, be sold from the shop, was turned in the shop, except that the finish was finer. If he had known that to use a machine he could not have done the work.

FROM THE CABIN TO THE COTTAGE.

When the great training schools for Negro youth have got into the market, the instruments to be used will be the methods of the school. The Elizabeth S. Rust Industrial Home will add immensely to the power of the university to accomplish its mission. I count it an honor and a privilege to take part in the special exercise of this occasion.

ELIZABETH S. RUST INDUSTRIAL HOME.

Because I believe Rust university is such a school as I have described, I am glad to be here to-day. And because I believe that the instruments to be used will be the methods of the school. The Elizabeth S. Rust Industrial Home will add immensely to the power of the university to accomplish its mission.

THE COTTAGE.

The right thing is, not to despise the cabin, but to get ready to build and to build it to be furnished and kept, and then both men and women must have industrial training as well as book learning. Book learning alone will only make the people, whose interest we seek to day, unhappy in the cabin; it will not give them the ability to get into cottages or make homes of them when they get there.

THE MEN'S SIDE.

And do you gentlemen of the Freed men's Aid society "help those women who labor with you in the world?" Will they help us to get ready to build and to build it to be furnished and kept, and then both men and women must have industrial training as well as book learning. Book learning alone will only make the people, whose interest we seek to day, unhappy in the cabin; it will not give them the ability to get into cottages or make homes of them when they get there.
